HEALING OF THE INNER MIND

"Therefore confess your sins to each other and pray for each other so that you may be healed. The prayer of a righteous person is powerful and effective". (James 5;16)

We as a parish meditating "healing of the inner mind" as our theme for the month of November. This theme exhibits that there are illness prevailing in human mind. Illness of mind is invisible and does not make sample weakness for the external body but it makes more disturbances for the whole life than the physical illness. Sickness in body have symptoms and may have visible expressions. There are various equipment to diagnose the cause of physical disease and have hospital facilities and various care units to help the sick persons.

Unfortunately to dictate the sickness of mind with an equipment is impossible due to lack of such instruments. The sickness of mind is basically negative thoughts and negative attitudes. This is a feeling of worthless, incompetent, unfortunate and at last their self-esteem remains very low.

Self-esteem is the sum total of one's self-confidence, self-worth and self-respect. The fundamental nature of one's self-esteem is based on understanding, accepting and liking oneself. Strong self-esteem implies that one feels good about one's beliefs, thoughts, feelings and desires. It is based on one's value as a person, kind of job one do, one's achievements etc. Self-esteem is important because it provides foundation for confronting life's challenges positively, gives confidence, strength and resilience to face and overcome many obstacles.

Low self-esteem results from having a poor self-image caused by our attitude. That is one do not value highly the job one do or feel that he/she have no purpose in their life. Low self-esteem can cause poor and dysfunctional relationships. It also leads to depression and can create a very bleak and negative outlook of life. It causes unhappiness, insecurity and poor confidence. They are highly self-centered give importance only to one's own needs, feelings, likes and dislikes. They are never willing to consider the feelings or needs of others. They are highly critical, make negative judgements constantly about the behavior of others. They are doing like this to cover up and rationalize their actions and inabilities. They constantly misinterpreted others and made themselves and others life miserable.

The qualities of person who have strong self-esteem are self-confident, goal oriented and appreciative. Strong esteem evolves from viewing oneself as valuable and worthwhile person. They know how to respect people and makes unity in community instead of divisions. Improving one's self-esteem is very important for attaining mental health. This is possible only by allowing Christ to dwell in one's heart, accept yourself and your limitations, and anticipate bright future.

May God almighty enable one to attain inner healing and exhibit God's fragrance in the way we are transitory.

With prayerful regards

John Philip Achen (Vicar)
